

Konstantinos Dimitriadis is an agronomist, a graduate of the Agricultural University of Athens. Since 2009, he has been working at DIO Organization of Inspection & Certification of Organic Products (<http://www.dionet.gr/?p=1300>) as auditor of plant production and processing units but also as coordinator of audits in the region of Central Greece and the Cyclades. He has also worked as an evaluator of certification documents while at the same time he has participated in a large number of exhibitions and conferences in Greece and abroad as well as in workshops and seminars aimed mainly at new organic farmers, consumers, schools etc. Since 2014 he is a board member at the Mediterranean section of the International Federation for Organic Agriculture Movements (IFOAM AgriBioMediterraneo) and since 2015 as the representative of Greece in the general assembly of the IFOAM Organics Europe.