

Tagiakas Rafail is a PhD candidate in the Laboratory of Genetics and Plant Breeding of the School of Agriculture, Faculty of Agriculture, Forestry & Natural Environment of AUTH.

His specialty, in the context of his doctoral dissertation, is the genetic improvement of tomato and specifically the genetic study of the combined ability of traditional tomato varieties for quality characteristics and post-harvest behavior of fruits. He has also prepared a postgraduate dissertation at the School of Agriculture of the Aristotle

University of Thessaloniki in the MSc in Genetic, Plant Breeding and seed propagation material.

He has published 3 papers in scientific journals, 12 in national and 3 in international conferences. Finally, he participates in various research programs carried out in the Laboratory of Genetics and Plant Breeding of the school of Agriculture of AUTH.